CARROTS, so plentiful and cheap now, are one of the best vegetable sources of the "black-out" vitamin A, and also the "morale" vitamin B. Carrots help to keep eyes healthy and to build and maintain good teeth and bones. They also help steady the nerves and maintain a healthy skin. Use them raw, in cream soups, in salad combined with raisins or cabbage, or as a cooked vegetable. For the daily yellow vegetable, use young spring carrots.
